

NH Research (NHR) Covid-19 Statement

NH Research (NHR) is actively monitoring the dynamic coronavirus situation. We have taken steps to ensure the safety and health of our employees and their families, customers and communities. NHR is continuing to comply with all government regulations and the recommendations provided from public health agencies such as the World Health Organization and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control.

The company's priority is to protect our employees, customers and communities as we continue to provide support to our customers.

In response to government regulations around the world, NHR employees are working remotely from home if their role allows. This enables us to support our customers and help move important projects forward. At our headquarters office, only key staff roles required to maintain operations and support essential customers will be on-site. We have enhanced our sanitization procedures while implementing social distancing and personal protection equipment to ensure safe conditions.

NHR has restricted employee domestic and international travel until further notice. We are encouraging digital collaboration tools and virtual meetings with our team members and customers.

We also understand that our customers are impacted by the Covid-19 and are having to make adjustments to their business. We are committed to working closely with our customers to understand how to address their needs.

Stay healthy. Stay safe.
